With this service we would like to help our customers build our 20-year experience in contracting into their vision. Thus they can establish structures, mainly residential buildings, sports facilities, business cen-ters that function well and live up to expectations in their daily operation. Our team gained experience not only on the drawing board but also in the construction field.
We hope that we can be worthily proud of the buildings we designed and that they can provide everyone with wellbeing and a balanced lifestyle. Because in buildings- and here again I mean primarily residential buildings - where there is no separation of spheres these expectations can not be met.
Last, but not least, we strive to build such structural solutions into our plans that will reduce the acqusiti-on costs of our buildings, but will not affect the requirements imposed on them.

Please contact us so that we can put your ideas on paper.
